SOCIETY AND CLUB NEWS

Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Noble entertained a number of their friends at their pleasant home on South Mulberry street, on last Friday evening. A very enjoyable time was had by all present.

Eggleston-McLurg.

Married by Rev. J. F. Williams, at his residence on North Orchard street, Logan, O., Nov. 27 1907. Mr. Eliphlet S. Eggleston and Miss Laura M. McLurg, both of New Plymouth.

Doggett-Welty

On Tuesday, November 26, Mr. Martin A. Doggett, of Monroeville, Ind., was united in marriage to Miss Virginia Welty, of Logan. Mr. Doggett is a steel worker, and he has captured one of Logan's most charming young ladies.

Jolly Dozen

On Thursday evening of last week the Jolly Dozen Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson, and the evening was spent most pleasantly. Mrs. Dr. Eastman and Miss Myers were awarded prizes. Miss Mame Pierce receives the club at their next meeting.

Social Club

The annual Thanksgiving turkey banquet was indulged in Tuesday night by the Social Club, whose husbands were guests. The reception and banquet was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dollison on the Heights, and a most pleasing evening was spent, and a turkey supper, fit for the gods, served.

Junias

Mrs. Charley Lytle was hostess to the Junia Club, on Thursday evening, of last week, honoring Mrs. Dr. Beery, of Lancaster, who has been the house guest of Mrs. Lytle. Needle work occupied the attention of those present during the evening. The hostess served a most elegant two-course supper.

Mrs. Will Kessler, also, had a very pleasant affair at her home on Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Beery. Eight guests were present.

After Theatre Luncheon

One of the most enjoyable of the many social events during the week was the after theatre luncheon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John F. White on Monday evening complimentary to Miss Kathryn Osterman and sister, Miss Anna Belmont. Mrs. White always an ideal hostess, entertained her guests in a most lavish manner with an elegantly prepared lunch. The following guests enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. White's genuine Southern hospitality: Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rose, Mr. Mike Osterman, Manager of the Kathryn Osterman Co., Mr. Franklin Searight, a member of the company, Mrs. Jessie White Steele, Mrs. Beem and Miss Agnes White.

Twice Five.

The regular meeting of the Twice Five Club was held Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Green. The session was what was called an "open meeting," no subject being assigned for the evening.

Judge S. H. Bright led off with a very entertaining reading on the life of Lincoln. He was followed by H. J. Woodworth in a book review of Hudson's work, dealing largely with the alleged supernatural. The paper was most excellent. Mr. E. B. Comly told of a dream he had, and well described the Mammoth Cave. Postmaster McKay also had a dream, and his was founded on the out look that his political head will soon drop into the basket where many noble whiskers are gone on before. He centured the club for the accusation that his original poetry, so freely bestowed on the club heretofore had been stolen from Edgar Allen Poe. Mr. Green in his paper most ably defended the Dago, and his useful existence in this country. Several others spoke most entertainingly. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Blasius, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. McManigal and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dollison and Mr. Krumloff and Miss Florence Bright. Mrs. Green, assisted by her daughters, served a most sumptuous supper.

Heavy Fines.

[LANCASTER DEMOCRAT]

Judge Reeves called the criminal docket and disposed of a number of the grand jury indictments.

Andrew Wilson, of Nelsonville, pleaded guilty to the indictments against him for gambling. He was fined $50 and costs on the first indictment and $100 and costs on the second, and gave a suspended workhouse sentence of ten days on each indictment, and required to give a $500 bond for his good behavior for a year.

Albert Justus was fined $150 and costs and given two suspended workhouse sentences of ten days each on his two indictments for gambling in his place. He was also fined $50 and costs on one indictment for keeping his saloon open on Sunday.

A. J. Lathouse was fined $150 and costs and given suspended workhouse sentences of ten days each on two indictments for allowing gambling in his saloon.

Edson B. Briner pleaded guilty to the indictments against him and drew the largest fine yet assessed. His fines aggregate $350. For the two open saloon cases fined $50 and costs each. In the three indictments for allowing gambling in his saloon he was given the usual fine, $50 and costs on the first indictment and $100 and costs on each of the other two.

George Kull, against whom one indictment was returned for keeping his saloon open on Sunday, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

Alexander Buechler, who was indicted for exhibiting a gambling device, pleaded guilty. He was assessed a fine of $50 and costs and given a suspended workhouse sentence of ten days and required to give bond in the sum of $500 for his good behavior for a year.

John Slisler, who was indicted on three bills for allowing gambling in his place, and on two bills for keeping open on Sunday, pleaded guilty on two gambling indictments and was fined $50 and costs on the first and $100 and costs on the second and was given a suspended workhouse sentence of ten days in each case. He retained his plea of not guilty in the third gambling indictment. He also retained his plea of not guilty in one case for Sunday violations but pleaded guilty in the other and was fined $50 and costs.

J. D. Whims, who was indicted for keeping open his saloon at Pickerington on the day a local option election was held in that village, pleaded guilty. He was fined $15 and costs and given workhouse sentence of one day, which is suspended during good behavior.

William Fralinger, who had previously pleaded guilty to keeping his saloon open on Sunday, appeared in court and was fined $50 and costs.

Charles Bumgardner was fined $50 and costs for keeping his saloon open on Sunday.

Joseph Shonting, indicted for keeping his saloon open on Sunday, was fined $50 and costs.

Theodore Graf and Henry Baus, jointly indicted as the firm of Graf & Baus, for allowing gambling in their saloon were fined $50 and costs on the first indictment and $100 and costs on the second.

Frank Tarpey, who was indicted for keeping his saloon open on Sunday, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

Courts.

In the case of the State of Ohio vs. L. J. Warner for Sunday saloon opening, tried in Mayor Dollison's Court some months ago the case was carried to the common pleas, circuit and supreme courts on error, the higher courts all sustaining Judge Reeves on the point that in case of error, the case must revert to the Mayor for re-trial. The matter will be taken up again in the Mayor's court next week.

RAILROAD NEWS ITEMS

A bulletin has been posted declaring the stock trestle at Bessie Furnace is unsafe above the boilers.

A bulletin has been posted in regard to north end of Logan yards. All trains are required to stop clear of this bridge.

Benny Evans, Ed Clark, Hugh Munday and Ray O'dell have been off for several days on account of sickness in their families.

"Car captain" Will Poling has been assigned to duty in the extra night yards, along with Charles Grigsby and Joe Saxe. This makes two day and two night yard crews.

Frank Herrold who has been taking his train from Logan to Straitsville, now leaves Logan at 3:30 K. a. m., going to Nelsonville and taking his empties from there.

The steam shovel, which had been loading gravel near Bridge No. 3, broke down Monday, causing the gravel pit crews to be thrown out of employment, until a new shovel can be secured from the T. & O. C. Ry.

"Jack" Odell has started an innovation in the way of a coal oil burning lamp in the night yards. Several of the boys are thinking seriously of adopting the "hay burner," along with the leather boots and the red bandana handkerchiefs.

The new shops are rapidly nearing completion. The new 115 ft. stack for the electric light plant has been completed, the steel frame works on the main repair shops is nearly finished, the roofs are rapidly being placed on the other buildings, the tracks are nearly ballasted, and the shops will soon be ready for use.

Kathryn Osterman.

The Kathryn Osterman Theatrical Company played a return engagement at the Opera House on Monday evening to a good sized and most appreciative audience. Much has been said by the press all over the land in regard to the merits of this most fascinating comedy drama, and we are in position after witnessing the play for the second time to concur with the able notices they have received. Miss Osterman is without doubt one of the best comedians on the American stage, and her sister, Miss Belmont, is just about the best we have ever seen in these parts. The entire company is a most capable one and gave excellent satisfaction. The company was over Sunday guests at the Hotel Ambrose and Landlord Ambrose entertained them with an excellent Sunday evening dinner. Weaver's Orchestra entertained the guests during the dinner hour with some very classic selections from the different opera companies.

Notice to Teachers.

There will be a meeting of the teachers of Logan and Hooking Co., at the Logan School building Sat. Nov. 30, at 12:30 P. M. This meeting will be under the auspices of the Teachers Union, but all teachers are cordially invited. Ex. Com.
